

Success AT THE Core

How Teams and Teachers Transform Instruction

What if the power of media could be applied to efforts to improve instruction?

Success at the Core is an independently evaluated, web-based professional development toolkit for middle school leadership teams and teachers. And it's FREE!

7

modules help leadership teams define quality instruction and advocate for it in their schools

24

strategies help teachers implement quality instruction in the classroom

47

documentary-quality videos capture the action in real schools

According to an evaluation by Inverness Research, Washington State schools using the toolkit report:

- Growth in leadership capacity
- Improved professional culture
- Stronger instructional focus
- Increased student engagement

Success at the Core is a collaboration between Education Development Center, a non-profit with a track record in fostering school improvement through innovative materials and professional development, and Vulcan Productions, Paul G. Allen's award-winning film company. Available to all educators at no cost.

Learn more and join others on the path to success

www.successatthecore.com
Email: info@successatthecore.com

